Shampoo/Condition: #1 RULE Shampoo hair in luke-warm almost cold water. Rinse Conditioner out in COLD water. Hot warm water will swell and damage hair shaft. Shampoo your hair at least once every 2 weeks and Shampoo your hair more often if you have increased perspiration or have been in a dusty environment. Curly textures require frequent co-washes to look its best. Gently de-tangle hair before shampooing hair. Clean your hair extensions with a moisturizing shampoo. Wash your hair in a downward motion, working shampoo from the top down in one motion. Condition your hair with a moisturizing conditioner. Follow with the conditioner in the same manner. If the hair feels dry or heavy it is time to shampoo. Instead of a brush, switch to a wide-toothed comb, or even better, just use your fingers (when the hair is wet). If it is difficult to untangle your hair this way, add more conditioner to your hair when wet or trim any unruly end.

(Please read the labels of all hair products carefully. Do not use any of the hair products recommended if you are allergic to the product or to any ingredient in the hair care product)

Co-Wash: Conditioner only no Shampoo. Wash your hair in a downward motion, working conditioner from the top down in one motion. Be sure to rinse well and then style. This is great for curly styles
To keep you hair in tip top shape, use a deep conditioner in your hair twice a month. This is very important if you have chemically treated the hair or use irons.

Styling: Always keep your extension tangle free. Brush or comb gently and avoid any excess tension. Always comb or brush hair from the bottom up, small sections at a time. (Do Not Comb From Top to Bottom) The more careful you treat your extensions the longer they will last. Support your attachment when brushing or combing your hair.

Hair may be flat ironed, roller set, crimped, curled, pressed, cut and dyed. Use heat in moderation. Do not use high temperatures!!!. High temperatures can damage the hair, including permanently altering the hair texture. Use styling products that are alcohol free. Apply a heat protecting serum or leave-in conditioner before using any type of heat on hair.

Sleep: Put your hair "up" at night. Plait, Pin Curl, or Flexi Rods your hair before going to sleep. This is important in preventing tangles. Never sleep with loose wet hair, for it may tangle while you sleep.

Swimming/Sauna: When swimming at the beach, lake, sauna, or pool the following precautions below are recommended. Spray a leave-in conditioner on hair. Comb your hair and put it into braids before swimming or wading in any type of water. Dry hair soaks up more salt water and chlorine than does already-wet hair; which, means dry hair incurs more damage while swimming. If you plan to get your hair wet, soak your hair with plain tap water before you take the plunge. Rinse your hair with plain tap water as soon as you have finished your water play. Follow a day at the beach or pool with a moisturizing shampooing and deep conditioning treatment.

Don't forget to nurture your natural hair beneath the weave.

- *Never leave in a sewn-in for more than 3 months.
- *When washing your extensions do not forget your scalp. Try using a small plastic bottle with a nozzle to apply shampoo and conditioner to hard to reach places.
- *Rinse thoroughly to make sure all excess products has been washed away.
- *Deep condition your natural hair, allow the conditioner to penetrate for at least 5-7 minutes.
- *Extensions attached with fusion, glue, or tapes can be harsh if not cared for properly. Remove all residue and deep condition hair before you reapply. Ask your stylist for a hair care regimen to maintain your hair.
- *Dry your braids under the weave thoroughly by sitting under a hard hat hair dryer. If braids remain damp, over time they will develop a mildew-like scent.
- *Keep your hair moisturized. Apply your favorite moisturizer but use sparingly so it does not weigh down your extensions or clog your pores.
- *Trim your hair in between your extension installs
